II. Confidentiality

1. Within certain limits, information revealed by you during therapy will be kept strictly confidential and will not be revealed to any other person or agency without your permission.
2. If clients enter into family therapy or couples therapy (relational therapy), confidentiality will be kept within the family. The relationship unit is considered the client. Dr. Groveman is unable to keep secrets that may be harmful to the relationship. If someone wants him to keep a secret that can be harmful, treatment may be terminated. If someone needs to work through something prior to sharing the information, he will help the client move to a place where this can be shared. If the person cannot share the information, termination may be necessary and a referral may be provided. During the course of our work together, a smaller portion of the relational unit may be seen for one or more sessions. These sessions should be seen as part of the work we are doing together. If you as an individual are involved in any such sessions, please understand that any information that is disclosed in these sessions may need to be shared with the entire relational unit.
3. There are certain situations where Dr. Groveman is required by law to reveal information obtained during therapy to other persons or agencies without your permission. These situations include:
 - a. If you threaten bodily harm or death to another person, Dr. Groveman is required by law to inform the intended victim and appropriate law enforcement agencies.
 - b. If you threaten bodily harm or death to yourself, Dr. Groveman will inform the appropriate law enforcement agencies and others (such as spouse, friend or an inpatient psychiatric institution) who can aid in prohibiting you from carrying out your threats.
 - c. If you reveal information related to the abuse or neglect of a child, dependent adult or elderly person, Dr. Groveman is require by law to report this to the appropriate authorities.
4. I understand that no promises have been made to me as to the results of treatment or of any procedures provided by this therapist.
